

Nykia Greene-Young, MA

Nykia Greene-Young has over 18 years of experience in public policy, women in politics, Black women and girls, gender studies, diverse populations, health disparities, public health, mental health promotion, behavioral health and prevention, legislative analysis, community outreach and urban politics. She is the Domestic Policy Coordinator at the W.E.B Du Bois Southern Center for Studies in Public Policy at Clark Atlanta University (CAU). She is also an Adjunct Professor in the Political Science Department at CAU. Nykia has worked with diverse populations and underserved communities on a wide variety of quality of life and policy issues.

She holds a master's degree in political science and is currently a PhD Candidate in Political Science at Clark Atlanta University with subfield concentrations in Women in Politics, American Politics, Urban Politics and Comparative Politics. Nykia enjoys working on community initiatives and projects in her spare time, reading, hanging with family and friends and living life to the fullest!